the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased from 4.5 million to 6.5 million (Office for National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people, and the need to ensure that the health care system is able to meet the needs of older people. The Department of Health (2000) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the health and well-being of older people, and to ensure that the health care system is able to meet the needs of older people.

The strategy for older people is based on the following principles: (1) to improve the health and well-being of older people; (2) to ensure that the health care system is able to meet the needs of older people; (3) to ensure that older people are able to live independently; (4) to ensure that older people are able to participate in society; (5) to ensure that older people are able to live in their own homes; (6) to ensure that older people are able to live in their own communities; (7) to ensure that older people are able to live in their own homes; (8) to ensure that older people are able to live in their own communities; (9) to ensure that older people are able to live in their own homes; (10) to ensure that older people are able to live in their own communities.

Wait until someone remembers why he's out there.....

Look out boys, here I come!

All right buster, I don't want any trouble from you.....

... the first day of school ... pitiful little green freshmen — confused, trembling ... mobs of students ... the old schoolhouse—spic and span—happily awaiting the familiar stampede ... faces, old and new ... rusty brains, creaking ...

... the aroma of burning leaves wafting on the autumn air ...

... Rah! Rah! Rah! three cheers for Hamlet High ... the first pep rally ... a football flying gracefully through the cold night air ... lusty cheers, a rousing tune by the Band as Hamlet scores another touchdown ...

... the excitement and festivities of homecoming ... the hurry and flurry of preparation for the colorful parade ... the suspense before the coronation ...

... hurray for those dear old Thanksgiving holidays ... the joyous shouts as the clock strikes 3:30 ...

... Sales ... endless sales ... masses of Christmas cards, magazine subscriptions, candy, household products ... eager Juniors and Seniors pursuing frightened adults hidden behind locked doors ...

... the day the Seniors have been waiting impatiently for ... those gorgeous rings are here at last ... the oo's and ah's of admiring underclassmen ...

... it's an exciting time of the year at Hamlet High ...

... a phenomenon of great wonder—o few flokcs of snow lozily drifting through the air
... ear-piercing shouts ... the mad rush ... windows clogged with gaping saucer-eyed students ... that long-awaited announcement ... freedom ... at last freedom!

... to climax the pre-holiday season ... the Miss Choo Choo dance—a night of dreamy music, swirling chiffon, shiny satin, red velvet ... spicy smells of evergreens, bright holly berries ... inconspicuous sprigs of mistletoe slyly bring unsuspecting lovers under their seemingly innocent white berries ...

... the last day of school before the Christmas holidays ... hurried teachers ... wild students ... confusion upon confusion ...
restlessness as the time draws nigh ... the
clang of o bell announcing no more lessons,
no more books ...

... exams ... the forbidden word ... o night-
more of notes and endless reviews ... midnight oil ... those agonizing moments before the exam when you've forgotten everything
... the heavenly relief when those grueling,
nerve-wracking doys ore finolly over ...

... delicate buds, tender young leaves, caroling birds, warm balmy days and sweet light fragrances all turn over thoughts to the great out-of-doors and to none other than ... the glorious baseball season ... the dreamy Junior-Senior Prom and banquet ... banquet? ... who cares about eating? ... the fragile loveliness of a fairy's dream ... swirling mists of lace and net ... the delicate strains of romantic melodies drifting lightly, endlessly on the balmy April air ... starry-eyed lovers ... an unforgettable night of glitter and crepe

I've really enjoyed being in your homeroom and in English this year. You are a wonderful teacher, and I'm sure I won't forget you. Thank you for teaching me some English!

Love always,
Laura Jacobs

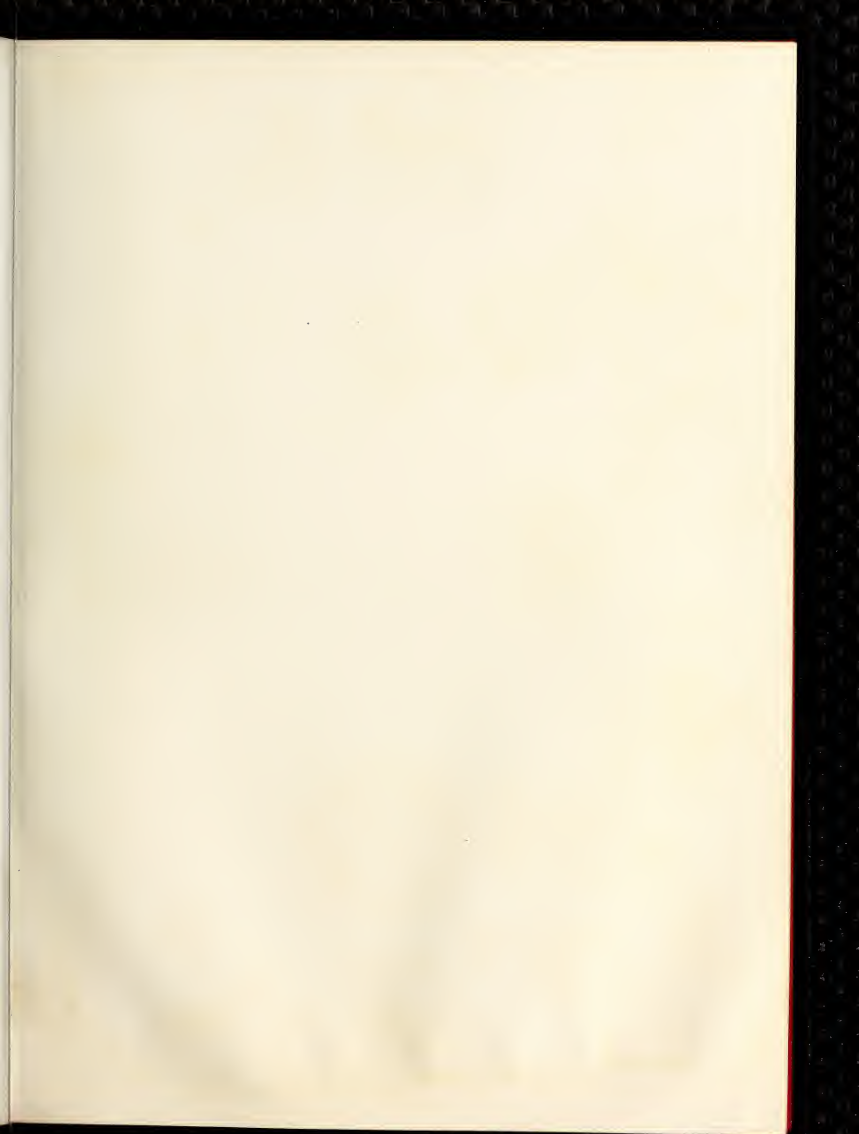

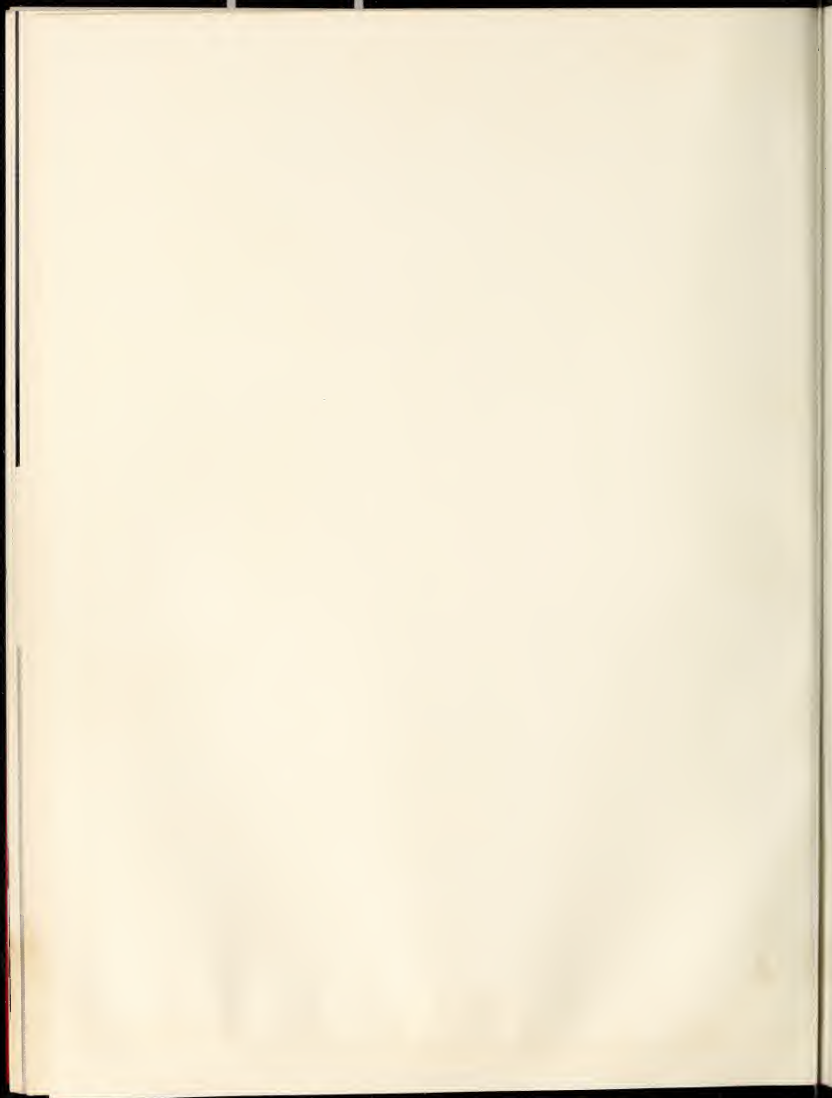

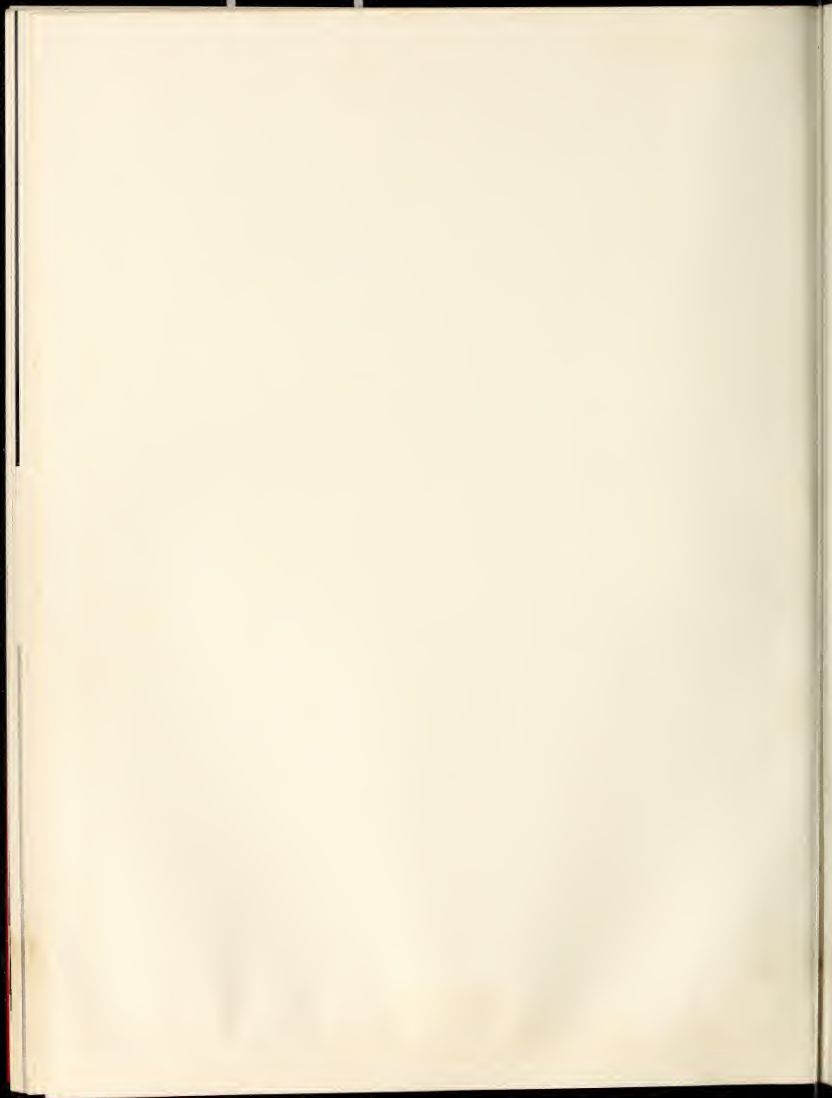

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial data. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses and income. The document provides a detailed explanation of how to categorize these transactions and how to use a ledger to track them over time.

Next, the document covers the process of reconciling the books. This involves comparing the company's records with bank statements and other external sources to identify any discrepancies. The author explains how to investigate these differences and make necessary adjustments to the accounts. This step is crucial for ensuring that the financial statements are accurate and reliable.

The final section of the document discusses the preparation of financial statements. It outlines the steps for calculating the net income, assets, and liabilities of the business. The author provides a clear breakdown of the components of each statement and offers practical advice on how to present the information in a clear and concise manner. This section is particularly useful for business owners who need to understand the financial health of their company and how to communicate that information to stakeholders.
